

New Front Doors

Some parishioners have difficulty opening our main doors due to their weight, especially seniors or those who use a mobility device. These doors open and close constantly. We adjusted them as much as possible but they still do not work efficiently. Unfortunately, replacement doors are not covered by our insurance.

The picture above is an example of the doors we would like to install, except black in color to match all the existing doors and windows. These doors are designed for use in hurricane zones. They have high impact energy-efficient insulated glass. They will have sensors for touchless entry and exit. They also feature attractive lock bodies that allow for a single point of release per operable panel that complies with NFPA 101 Life Safety Code.

These doors cost about $20,000, and we pray that our congregation will help us offset the price. Our General Contractor, Jeremy Thames, has agreed to modify the front entrance for free and make a donation toward the cost of the new doors.
